Hello

Reward your employees this Christmas

Treating your employees to a Christmas party is a good way to reward and thank them for their hard work over the year. Being a small business or small department in a larger organisation does not mean you have to miss out on the big party experience. Several such businesses book one or two tables at our Christmas parties but still benefit from a great night out at a full scale event without having to worry about the administration and planning.

This year's Eastern Promise themed parties at Trinity Park are over two thirds booked but there are still places available on December 3, 8, 15, and 22. Tables are for 10 people and ticket price inclusive of dinner, dancing, outdoor steam carousel and themed entertainment is £54.95. For bookings call 01473 707119, email or visit the website.

Classic boats race from Rotterdam to Ipswich

Over 680 young dutch sailors will be racing aboard 24 classic sailing ships in all shapes and sizes from Rotterdam to Ipswich harbour next month - weather permitting! The Race of the Classics for Young Professionals was founded in 1989 with the aim of preserving the Netherlands' maritime heritage and has grown to become the country's largest classic sailing ship race.

At the end of the 200 mile race, four double decker buses will transport the sailors in two trips to Trinity Park for a well deserved party.

The Green Debate - what's your answer?

East of England businesses striving to improve their green credentials are invited to attend 'Questions for a Greener Future', a half day event at Trinity Park on 20th October (12pm – 5pm) which promises to explore the challenges of being energy efficient and provide practical advice on the environment agenda.

The event is the conclusion of the three-year ANSWER Project (A North Sea Way to Energy-Efficient Regions) and will be chaired by Iain Dunnett from the Suffolk Chamber of Commerce's Low Carbon Development Unit. For more information regarding the conference, or to register your interest, please visit

FREE Construction Safety and Health Awareness Day

The SHAD – Safety and Health Awareness Day 2011 will be held at Trinity Park on Wednesday 19th October. Construction is a high-risk industry and the aim of this event is to give practical, hands-on advice on the following topics: Falls from Height, Temporary Works, Asbestos and Dust (Silicosis)

If you are a self-employed builder, manager or run a small construction company, this free half day event is a must.

Supported by the HSE, this is the eighth in the successful series of annual events run by the industry for the industry in the Anglia region, as part of the UK-wide Working Well Together (WWT) campaign.
